BEACON HILL PARK.

To THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—There is no martyrization about the matter. Though abusive, without which he is nothing, R. H. W. shall have my answer to his query: "Is it not true that he (Mr. M.) sent in a plan and bid on the work of beautifying the park and having failed to get the contract, gets sore about it? I did not send in a design for the park—from dislike to competition in general, and their usual management. How H. R. W. arrived at the conclusion following must be the result of second sight: "My opinion is he knows nothing about landscape gardening, or gardening at all, his profession in that branch." Good heavens; what a statement. In any case his gigantic intellect is at fault in stating "that gentleman is not acting on purely unselfish motives." Something out of your experience, eh? Try something else, H. R. W. Your vocation is not that of a mind reader. Yours, &c.,

ALASKA'S RICH FISHERIES.

Government Commissioners Give an Interesting Account of Them.

San Francisco, Sept. 23.—The steamer Hayliss Republic arrived from the Kodiak islands, Alaska, Saturday night, with about 200 passengers and a cargo of salmon. Among the passengers were the four United States commissioners who are to make a report to the United States government on the condition of the salmon fisheries of Alaska. They said:

A brief report of our investigations will be made to congress in December, and a full report in June. In Carlock river, which stream is about 60 feet wide and 25 miles in length, over 153,000 salmon were caught in a single day soon after our arrival.

Although the country around Kodiak islands is wholly unsettled, there are several millions of dollars invested in the salmon trade there, and business is very profitable. There are eight canning companies on the islands, nearly all of them San Francisco concerns. We saw 20,000 salmon taken in one haul. I am told that the Carlock company cleared $300,000 in the business last year.

We will say that too many salmon are being caught. If the present amount of fishing should be continued, and the same methods be used, the salmon will soon be completely exterminated in the best and largest rivers on the Kodiak islands.

We will report two methods by which the salmon fisheries may be preserved and protected. First, by restricting the packing companies as to the extent of their catches, and, second, to hatch salmon by artificial methods. Either of these plans will solve the question and protect the fisheries.

The Military Spirit.

If the military spirit is not kept alive in Germany it will not be the fault of the Emperor William, whose whole mind seems to be devoted to military affairs. His time his spent in going about reviewing his troops and looking at sham battles. The chief feature of the military manœuvres was a brilliant cavalry charge, and it is suggested that there was a significance in this as showing the importance attached to cavalry movements in modern warfare. But it is hard to see how cavalry will ever again be of such great value in war as was formerly the case. The substitution of repeating rifles for the slow loading muskets and guns make an effective cavalry charge almost an impossibility, while it is apparent that in the face of such an implement of war as a Gatling gun a troop of horses would have a difficult feat to perform in getting into close quarters with the enemy. War is every day becoming more and more of a science and the improvements that have been made in recent years have not been in the direction of bringing the contestants closer together but of enabling them to kill each other with facility while remaining still further apart. It is so not only upon land but upon the sea. The dashing cavalry charge, such as that by the Light Brigade, is more likely to live in the pages of history than to be repeated in the annals of modern warfare.

HUGE FRAUDS.

New Orleans, Sept. 26.—In addition to the loss of $1,000,000 in fraudulent coupons, it has been found that the state has lost large sums by another fraud. The Picayune's Baton Rouge special says a levee warrant drawn three or four months ago for over $500,000 was recently presented for payment, which it is ascertained was presented and paid about the time of its date. It is now suspected that many such warrants have been paid twice or more.

THE SUGAR MARKET.

New York, Sept. 25.—The rumors recently prevailing about the issue of new securities by the sugar trust and the continued decline in price of raw sugar in the London market apparently have struck terror into the hearts of small holders and as a result prices of certificates dropped rapidly this morning from 102¾, at which they closed last night, to 97½. About 7000 shares were sold. On reaching 97½ there was more support extended to those certificates and a recovery to 99 took place. During the decline the crowd of brokers dealing in certificates was the largest since they were put on the market and much anxiety is apparent with regard to the future of the market. Cables from London to-day report the market for raw sugar weak and declining. Best sugar, which a short time ago was quoted at 27s. 6d., is to-day 13s. In the same period the price of sugar certificates declined from 126 to to-day's figure of 97½.

HUNGARIANS DISSATISFIED

The Austrian Emperor Incensed at a Recent Slight.

Vienna, Sept. 26.—On arriving to-day at the Hungarian town of Monarck, the Emperor Francis Joseph exhibited a marked coolness in thanking the citizens for their apparently enthusiastic welcome. In his remarks he referred with ill-concealed anger to the insult offered the Austrian flag during the recent manœuvres, and expressed the hope that the miscreants would be discovered and punished.

The Minister of War is inquiring into the matter. It was observed during the manœuvres that discontent was shown by Hungarians at the honoring of the Austrian flag.

RETURN OF THE RUSH.

The Lost Indian Hunters on Board—Six Sealers Seized.

Port Townsend, Sept. 24.—Capt. Russell Glover, of the revenue cutter Oliver Wolcott, now in port, yesterday received a letter from First Lieutenant Frank Tuttle, of the revenue cutter Rush, dated Sitka, September 12th, where she had that day arrived, eight days from Ounalaska. The Bear arrived at Ounalaska September 2nd, and will cruise in the sea until October.

Lieutenant Tuttle states that very few sealers were left in Behring Sea when the Rush came away. She had seized during her cruise six sealers and overhauled fifteen more, and has 2470 seal skins aboard. She has eight Vancouver Island Indians aboard, who were lost during fogs and gales from their vessels and got ashore at Ounalaska. Free passage will be given them to Victoria.

"The most dangerous weapons we saw," writes the lieutenant, "were a bottle of brandy and a box of cigars, leveled at us by that captain who would never allow a United States revenue officer to come aboard his ship. The most of their fighting was done in bar-rooms before they sailed from Victoria."

The lieutenant states that some of their prizes went to Sitka, as they had been ordered. The Rush was waiting for the United States court at Sitka to condemn the seized goods, which it was thought would occupy about a week. She would then sail for Victoria, where she will remain a few days to have her bottom scraped. She will proceed from there to this port and remain two or three days, and then go to Seattle and coal up, and from there proceed to San Francisco.

TWO MILLIONS LOST.

Collapse of the Big Bend Tunnel and Mining Co.—Work Abandoned.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 25.—One of the largest financial enterprises in which Buffalo speculators ever engaged has practically collapsed, and the net loss is $2,000,000. The enterprise was the Big Bend Tunnel and Mining Company, with the principal office in this city, and a branch at Big Bend, Bute county, Cala. The field of operation is at the latter place. The capital stock of the company is $20,000,000, of which $2,000,000 has been paid and sunk almost beyond redemption. The president of the company is Hon. Roy V. Pierce, an ex-congressman and proprietor of the World's Dispensary of this city. Dr. Pierce owns from sixty to seventy per cent. of the stock. Feather river, in Butte Co., Cala., is rich in its deposits of gold, and the north fork of the river, called Big Bend, was considered particularly rich. Five years ago Dr. Pierce's attention was called to these deposits and he organized the Big Bend Tunnel and Mining Co.; every shareholder in which confidently expected to become a millionaire. The tunnel was constructed to divert the river and this was a success; but when the river bed was dried it was found that the work, so far as getting at the gold deposits, was only begun. The bed of river was covered with innumerable immense boulders, and it was a losing task to secure the gold. One gang of the men would strike a rich find, but another gang would work away at the boulders and eat up the profits of the find. It is hardly probable that anything further will be done in the way of mining, and the only revenue that will be got out of the property will come from the sale of a tract of land, some of which is valuable, including hundreds of acres of good timber.

Another Winnipeg Man for the Coast—Horrible Incidents of the Quebec Disaster.

[Special to THE TIMES.]

Swift Current, N. W. T., Sept. 26.—Residents witnessed a remarkable and unusual sight at about 8:40 o'clock last evening, when a meteor was observed in the heavens, of sufficient brightness to render objects as visible as by a good moon. It lasted for a period of three seconds, travelling in a northwest direction. A report of an explosion, which resembled that of a cannon fired at a considerable distance, was heard about two minutes after the disappearance of the body.

SMUGGLING WHISKY.

Michael Dechy was alive when found, but one of his feet was inextricably wedged between the rocks and it was found necessary to cut off the foot near the ankle in order to remove the body. The last body recovered is that of Mrs. Mayberry, but so badly disfigured by rocks and rats that her son, a lad of 15, could only identify her from the rings on her fingers.

A thousand dollars of the relief fund has been paid out to the victims and the remaining $2000 will soon be distributed. The Federal government will be asked for additional funds for relief purposes.

BANK OF B. N. A.

It Progresses with the Dominion—Mr. McTavish's Death.

A general meeting of the proprietors of this bank was held on Tuesday, the 3rd inst., at the offices of the corporation, 3 Clement's Lane, Lombard street, London. Mr. H. J. B. Kendall occupied the chair, the attendance was small.

The secretary (Mr. A. G. Wallis) having read the notice convening the meeting, the chairman said: Gentlemen, the report which has been sent out is, as usual, very brief, and with your pleasure we will take it as read. This meeting is convened, as the report states, for the purpose of declaring an interim dividend. It is not our custom at this period of the year to send out a balance sheet, and therefore we have no accounts to lay before you. But I may say that the board of directors, along with the auditors, have carefully examined the books of the bank and have found that the profits during the last half year are fully sufficient for the payment of an interim dividend of the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, after due provision for bad and doubtful debts. I am glad to say, however, that the amount of bad debts is trivial. The success of this bank, as you know, depends very much upon the progress and prosperity of the Dominion of Canada—indeed, goes hand in hand with that progress and prosperity. And it needs no words of mine to remind you that the Dominion is prospering; that is a matter of common knowledge to all interested in the country—indeed, to all who read the newspapers. I have therefore merely to state that the position of the bank at the present time is most satisfactory, and that there seems every prospect of its continuing to be so. The management of the bank at our different branches has been all that could be desired, and I think the proprietors owe their thanks to the staff generally—in London and elsewhere—for the efficient manner in which they have conducted the affairs of the bank. Before taking my seat I have one painful duty to perform in announcing to you the grave loss the bank has sustained by the death of Mr. Duncan McTavish, our late agent in New York. Mr. McTavish spent the last thirteen years of his life in managing your affairs at New York, and by his decease the bank has lost the services of a most correct and efficient servant. I feel sure that to his admirable management and urbane manners this bank is largely indebted for the high estimation in which it is held throughout the United States. We have not only lost an able agent; to many of us Mr. McTavish was more than this; and, for my own part, I may say that by his death I have suffered the loss of a personal friend. Of course the vacancy occasioned has had to be filled, and the board are of opinion that in appointing Mr. Stikeman as successor to Mr. McTavish, they have selected a gentleman well able to efficiently carry on the work at New York. [Hear, hear.] I now beg to move the adoption of the report.

Mr. Henry R Farrer seconded the motion, which was unanimously agreed to.

The proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

BICYCLE CLUB.

The bicycle club will meet at the Barnes House to-night to decide what part they will take in the reception programme to the Governor General.

PURE SPORT.

C. C. Steuart, of New Westminster, writes an excellent letter to Truth, deprecating the practice of offering money prizes for athletic competitions on fete days. He points out that these programmes are watched with eagle eyes by the professional sports, located in the large cities, who, when the day comes, descend on the field and scoop the whole of the prizes. Respectable young men will not compete with them for the sake of winning a $15 prize, his chances at the same time being exceedingly slim. He has not had the chance of training and is not acquainted with the trickery of professional sports. What should be done is to offer trophies and medals instead of money prizes, which would make the competition just as keen and earnest between amateurs. It is a violation of the rules of lacrosse, our national game, for any players, who wish to contest in matches, to compete in any other branch of sport for money consideration. And it is the same in cricket. The bicycle association of Canada and the rowing associations are very strict and severe in this respect, consequently it is impossible for a lover of any of these pastimes to enter into competition in any of the programmes at present issued in this province. A provincial amateur athletic association is what is needed, and steps will be taken immediately to have one formed, when, it is hoped, the sporting atmosphere of this province will be cleared and placed in a healthy condition.

A GAIN FOR NEW WESTMINSTER.

Stewart Campbell, of the Winnipeg lacrosse club, leaves to-day for New Westminster, B. C. Stewart will be sadly missed on the Winnipeg team.

PROVINCIAL POLICE COURT.

(Before Edwin Johnson, Q. C., S. M.)

Alexander, a Chemainus Indian, was charged with being in the possession of an intoxicant—to wit, gin or alcohol. The offence having been committed in the city of Victoria, the prisoner was handed over to the city police court.

CHARGE OF STEALING.

William Jarrell, a youth of about fifteen years, was charged with stealing $50 from Peter Smith at Esquimalt.

Sergt. Langley asked for a remand, for one week, as Peter Smith, the complainant, was unable to attend on account of sickness. The case was accordingly remanded.

INTENT TO KILL.

Moses, a Kanaka, was charged with assaulting Kar-na-mon, with intent to murder, at North Saanich on the 17th inst.

Mr. J. P. Walls appeared for the prisoner. Mr. Walls asked that the witnesses be excluded from the court room during the investigation.

Kahanum alias John Hyram deposed to the assault made on him by Moses; an account of which has already been published in THE TIMES.

The case was still on when we went to press.

POLICE COURT.

(Before Rev. A. N. Richards, Q. C.)

Thos. Dowth, charged with being drunk, pleaded guilty and paid $5.

George Jessop, on remand, charged with assaulting an officer.

Supt. Sheppard said that interfering with officers in the discharge of their duty was becoming too common and he wished a stop put to it. Fined $10.

MR. EARLE'S CANDIDATURE.

The requisition presented to Mr. THOMAS EARLE and that gentleman's reply, are published in to-day's TIMES. The invitation, as was to be expected, is very numerously signed. Mr. EARLE is a prominent and influential citizen, and occupies a position somewhat unique in the political, commercial and social world of Victoria. He is, like many others, a self-made man, but in acquiring wealth and popularity he has not—like some others—lost his head. His personal friends are to be found among the mechanics and working men of the city as well as among the mercantile classes, and it would be strange indeed if a request to stand as a candidate for parliament were not very generally signed by all classes. It is a tribute to the man rather than a vote of confidence in the politician. Knowing Mr. EARLE intimately for a quarter of a century, the majority of our citizens have confidence in his integrity and honesty of purpose. A good citizen ought to make, they argue, a good politician; and while we are not prepared to endorse this idea in its entirety, or without regard to other special and important qualifications approve of every respectable citizen's candidature for office, we are free to admit that Mr. EARLE possesses in no inconsiderable degree, the ability and character which are essential in public life, and without which mere social status or commercial success would be absolutely valueless. This much in regard to Mr. EARLE's personal qualifications. What his political views are, or what his opinions on the great questions of protection vs a revenue tariff, reciprocity, the expensive and useless franchise act, etc., we are as yet in the dark. Mr. PRIOR, it will be remembered, was elected without a pledge, promise or pronunciamento of any kind. He captured the fort without firing a shot. Mr. EARLE, we are inclined to think, would prefer being chosen from among his fellows for the honorable position now offered him, because of "the faith that is in him" and not because of his personal popularity. If he can be independent of faction; if he will refuse to be dragged through the mire of party politics; if he is prepared to do right for the city and province and is not afraid in so doing to vote against the government—then we know of no good reason why he should be opposed. But Mr. EARLE must declare himself. Mr. BAKER could not, as an honest man, vote for the government, while as an honest Conservative he would not vote against it. If that is Mr. EARLE's position, he cannot expect to be elected by acclimation.

THE CIRCUMLOCUTION OFFICE.

Of certain little internal matters in which navigation and finance are inseparably connected, a slight difference of opinion has arisen between the lone Sentinel of the interior and a young but vigorous organ published in New Westminster under the suggestive cognomen of Truth. The Truth, with a disregard for veracity which belies its name (so thinks the Sentinel) accuses Mr. MARA, M. P., for Yale, of exceeding slothfulness in relation to the expenditure of certain appropriations for the improvement of navigation on the Columbia below Revelstoke. The Sentinel endeavors to stave off the charge by alleging that the funds appropriated could not be made available for this year. This, we need scarcely remark, is red tape, another illustration of the rapidity of movement peculiar to the circumlocution office. Such procedure, we will concede, is unavoidable so far as governments are concerned. In a matter, however, so important to Revelstoke in particular and the province in general, it would have been eminently the proper thing for Mr. MARA to have taken steps to make the appropriation available ahead of its actual availability from the government. This is not red tape to be sure, but it is a way men have of doing business where the object sought will not admit of delay. It is perfectly square; there is nothing reprehensible about it. It is, in fact, a mighty good sign of active public spirit. The Sentinel, however, cannot see things in this light, and doubtless will retort on us that Mr. MARA is not in the brokerage-contracting business, and that matters must take their course, happen what will. We shall reply that Mr. MARA is a politician and a business man, and that since he is not called upon to exercise his faculties on the broad scale of Mr. DEWDNEY, his constituents naturally expect that he will devote some attention to local affairs. Mr. MARA is fully acquainted with the character of navigation on the Columbia. He knows besides that it is desirable that British Columbia should secure the Kootenay trade. So soon, therefore, as he was certain that an appropriation would be made for the Columbia and how important it was that such improvements, small as they might be, should be pushed this year, the least he could have done was to tell somebody to go ahead; that funds would be available in July. An order or a suggestion to go ahead, coming from such a source at such a time, would have been snapped up by somebody willing to wait until July, August, or September, if need be, for the money. Such a procedure authorized by Mr. MARA would be perfectly legitimate and not without precedent. But if the Sentinel cannot see these little things it is solacing to note that that it has backbone enough to say it regards the appropriation—$6000—for improvements on the Columbia altogether too small.

FEATURES OF PROTECTION.

In the U. S. we have the singular spectacle of the manufacturers crying for free trade and protection at the same time, that is woollen manufacturers want raw wool admitted free, but they want to be protected against the manufactured article coming from England and France. A short time ago the woollen manufacturers held a convention in Boston with the prime motive of ascertaining how to protect themselves, and at the same time secure the admittance of Australian wool free. A convention for the avowed purpose of promulgating a doctrine so one-sided as this was necessarily conducted with closed doors, and so the public is still in ignorance of the character of its proceedings. The New York Tribune, however, plainly tells the manufacturers that they may as well abandon their little game, and concede that the wool growers have as much right to be protected as they, and that as the number of voters interested in wool outnumber the manufacturers the former will probably carry their point. Another instance of the selfishness of manufacturers is that of the iron men, who demand that they shall be protected, and yet that raw iron shall be duty free. The argument against protection, says the Oregonian, has always been that it makes manufacturers rich. The colossal fortunes of our great manufacturers have always been pointed at as an argument against the system. But now we are told that the manufacturer must have his raw materials free of duty, so that he may make still more money. That is, he must keep the protection he has, and get a further advantage by depriving the producer of materials of his share of protection. We mention these things not alone as something which may possibly affect reciprocity, but as showing that the greed of the manufacturing element is not bound by ordinary considerations of justice. What is peculiar to the United States has its counterpart in Canada. Canadian farmers can make up their minds that the manufacturers argument for protection is a purely selfish one, has reference to themselves, and is as parasitic in its effects as Chinese labor, which absorbs but does not disseminate its gains.

SLOGGING IN SAN FRANCISCO.

It is now beginning to look as if the "slogging" problem in San Francisco was to be settled, and that, too, in a way which, besides reducing the business to a minimum, will materially contribute to the city's revenues. Clubs, it appears, are possessed of special privileges. Within their sacred and exclusive precincts they are law unto themselves. Deviltry of all kinds, in fact, may be carried on under their particular auspices. The point, however, has been reached when, in the interests of law and order and morality, forbearance ceases to be a virtue, and it has struck the supervisors of San Francisco that, since the clubs of that city are prone to abuse their privileges, it would be a good idea to raise their license fees. It has been proposed, therefore, to mulct all clubs, which patronize slogging, in the sum of $5000 in the shape of a license. This is a good round sum for a license, and if carried into effect, will effectually prohibit prize fighting, save at perhaps the Athletic Club, which is rich and is willing to pay for its fun. Human nature is made up of such curious elements that it will not recognize a law which bears directly on individual action, and which affects nobody but the parties concerned. Thus all laws regulating individual action, as relates to gambling, drinking, and Sabbath breaking, are broken with impunity. Public sentiment against these things is not strong enough to enforce the law. But while human nature rejects such laws as unwarranted interference with individual rights, curious enough it will tolerate being assessed by the state for the privilege of indulgence in certain iniquities to an amount which has the nature of a blackmail. High license, in fact, is now looked upon not only as the best way to minimise vice, but to make it relatively respectable. Hence, if the supervisors of San Francisco can agree among themselves, it will cost hereafter $5000 per annum to run a club in the interest of "slogging." Some people will say this is compromising with the devil. We need only remark that life is a compromise from whatever point of view it may be regarded, and since vice cannot be eradicated by direct methods, it is better to minimise it by heavy assessments, a method more in consonance with public sentiment.

THE LATEST CONSPIRACY.

The pole star of the law is the bench, and so we must regard Mr. BOLE's elevation to the county judgeship as the realization of the lawyer's dream. We cannot help thinking, though, that Mr. BOLE has retired from legal practice too soon. We shall not question the right of a man to shelve himself, to put himself in a way, so to speak, of making the descent of the hill of life easy; still we are of the opinion that had Mr. BOLE remained in the ranks of the law he would be more valuable to the public than as a judge. Mr. BOLE, in his legislative capacity, was a thorn in the side of the government. His power of analysis and his keen Irish wit were too much for the phlegmatic THEODORE and the astute JOHN. That the government, therefore, should wish to relegate him to a professional sphere, where his sharp tongue would be circumscribed by the extraordinary duties of the judicial function, is not surprising. Indeed we may look upon Mr. BOLE's elevation to the bench as nothing more nor less than a conspiracy to rid the opposition of one of its acutest and brightest lights. It is to be regretted that Mr. BOLE should have felt constrained to accept the judicial ermine under circumstances of this kind. Still, as we have just said, we cannot question his right to do so. The temptation is indeed strong to rid one's self of the maddening throng. New Westminster will please note the causes to which Mr. BOLE largely owes his elevation, and see to it that the man who fills his vacant chair in the House is as shrewd and as sound politically as the new made county judge.

ALWAYS THE WAY.

The catastrophe at Quebec is another illustration of the invincible recklessness of human nature. The people who were entombed knew they were living in daily peril of the cliff that hung menacingly over them and which had given them warnings before. In 1841 part of it had fallen and destroyed eight buildings and thirty-two lives. In 1852 another section had collapsed with fatal results. Before the latest disaster two days rain and storm had given notice that a slide might be expected. And yet people went on calmly living under an impending avalanche in full knowledge of their danger, and when the crash came they were buried as if they had been taken by surprise. What has happened to Quebec is what we see everywhere under similar conditions. The inhabitants of Johnstown knew what to expect but they disregarded the warning. Every year the people on the lowlands by the Ohio and Mississippi are drowned out, and the survivors make their way back to the devastated sites of their ill chosen homes, and appeal to the national bounty to enable them to prepare fresh bait for the floods.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The idea of independence in politics is something which the Colonist can never be induced to understand. The highest political principle it can recommend to a constituency is to hang on to the ragged edge of the government garments, for what can be got out of it, a kind of sucking politics, eminently adapted for a country where everybody was a "sucker."

The estimated wheat crop of Washington and Oregon for this year is: Oregon, 11,000,000 bushels, 1,150,000 acres; worth $8,500,000. Washington 10,000,000 bushels, 600,000 acres; worth $6,500,000. Last year the figures were: Oregon, 14,548,000 bushels, 892,425 acres; worth $11,-347,440. Washington 9,006,000 bushels, 487,790 acres; worth $7,024,680. Comparing these figures with the visible supply in the United States, August 20th, 1888, and to-day, show that we are more than up with the rest of the country, as the figures last year were 26,263,205 bushels, while this year the figures are about 14,500,000.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—It would be a gross injustice to confound that standard healing agent—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—with the ordinary nostrums, lotions and salves. They are oftentimes inflammatory and astringent. This oil is, on the contrary, eminently cooling and soothing when applied externally to relieve pain, and powerfully remedial when swallowed.

—Mrs. E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, Warren county, N. Y., writes: "She has been troubled with asthma for four years, had to sit up night after night with it. She has taken two bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil and is perfectly cured. She strongly recommends it, and wishes to act as agent among her neighbors."

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

A Record of the Work Done by the Board Last Evening.

The regular weekly meeting of the City Council was held last evening. There were present His Worship Mayor Grant, and Aldermen Harris, Coughlan, McKillican, Harrison, Kelly, Goodacre, Wilson and Vigelius.

A WRIT ISSUED.

The clerk informed the council that the corporation had been served with a writ at the instance of Mrs. McInnish.

Referred to city barristers with instructions to defend the interests of the city.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From W. T. Drake, asking if Parkington street was to be macadamized before winter sets in.

Ald. Harrison said it was in his ward and he objected to macademising.

Ald. Wilson said it was also in his ward and something ought to be done with it. Referred to street committee.

From D. Robson, city clerk, on behalf of the mayor and council of New Westminster, inviting the mayor and council of Victoria to visit New Westminster during the coming exhibition. Accepted with thanks.

From H. F. Heisterman, on behalf of the property owners of Hillside avenue and Queen street, asking the council to change the position of the water pipes on those streets. Referred to water committee with power to act.

From W. M. Chadley re grant of $1000 to Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital, and regretting that the hospital committee had not power to grant the request of the council in regard to land asked for street purposes. Also taking exception to the action of the council, especially the remarks made by Ald. Coughlan and urging the council to reconsider their action and hand over the $1000 to the hospital.

Ald. Coughlan said that he did not say the Royal Jubilee Hospital had agreed to make the grant of land. He had said if the hospital committee had agreed to do this, the matter would have been settled long ago.

Ald. McKillican moved that the grant be made the hospital without regard to any grant of land for street purposes.

Ald. McKillican in support of his motion, said that the hospital authorities looked for the council to make the grant as a donation and he thought they were nearly right.

Ald. Harrison supported the views of Ald. McKillican. The question was, should or should we not give the sum asked to the hospital. He thought the sum was a small contribution from the city and he would second Ald. McKillican's motion.

Ald. Vigelius, did not see that the secretary of the Jubilee Hospital was in such a great hurry. The matter was in the hands of the finance committee and they should be allowed to report on it.

Ald. Harris said when the finance committee were able to report that the city was in a position to make the grant asked, or more, they would do so.

Ald. Wilson wanted to know when the finance committee would report.

Ald. Harris, on Tuesday week at eleven minutes past four.

Ald. Harrison said the provincial government had made a large grant of money. The Jubilee Hospital would be used by laboring men, strangers and others. It would be a pleayunish matter not to grant the sum.

Ald. Coughlan said the secretary of the hospital seemed to think that the council was bound to make the grant of $1000.

Ald. Wilson said the granting of the strip of land was not made a question when the grant of money was first spoken of. He thought the council should make the grant.

After some further discussion an amendment, referring this question to the finance committee to report, was carried.

From R. Finlayson complaining of the deposit of filth on the old bridge near Rock Bay and asking the immediate attention of the council. Referred to the sanitary committee with power to act.

From John Teague, architect, on behalf of G. Bossi, calling attention to the injury done to Mr. Bossi's property on the corner of Johnson and Store streets, and suggesting that the council appoint some person to confer with him on the matter.

From G. W. Gillespie & Co., offering to sell the city sanitary pipes for sewerage purposes. Received and filed.

From W. Ridgway-Wilson, on behalf of W. Bridgman, asking that a sidewalk and drain be laid on Scoresby street. Referred to street committee.

From Eberts & Taylor asking permission to hand over to Mr. Anderson, trustee of the Drummond estate, certain papers formerly in the hands of the late city treasurer Thomas Russell.

On motion Messrs. Eberts & Taylor were instructed to hand over the papers asked for.

From P. J. Leech enclosing a letter he had received from the department of the Interior and enclosing official permission for the erection of the sanitary wharf at Ross bay. Received and referred to the mayor to act in the matter.

PETITIONS.

From R. Brocklebanse, asking for a sidewalk from Hillside avenue to Second street, and that the drain on that street be boxed in as it is now in a most filthy condition.

From Skeene Lowe and others asking for an electric light at the junction of Carr and Simcoe streets. Referred to the electric light committee.

CITY HALL WING.

Ald. Goodacre moved seconded by Ald. McKillican, that Mr. John Teague, architect be authorized to prepare plans for the completion of the addition to the north east corner of the city hall. Carried unanimously.

TENDERS.

Tenders for rock blasting on Ontario street, were received from Jno. Cox, $2.37 per cubic yard; Jno. Haggerty $2.90; J. T. Potter $2.25. The contract was awarded to J. T. Potter.

Tenders for gravelling Third street to Bay street were received from A. Beswick $930; James Baker $690; John Haggerty $950. Contract awarded to James Baker.

REPORTS.

From the finance committee, re restaurant licenses and recommending that the license fee be not increased. Also referring to the Refuge Home and stating that while they wished it every prosperity they could not make the grant of money asked for. Received and adopted.

From the street committee advising the construction of a brick culvert and the grading of Bay street, and also of a sidewalk on Bridge street.

From the electric light committee, stating that the Victoria District Telegraph Co. had obtained permission to use private poles for the telegraph lines and would only erect poles when absolutely necessary. The committee recommended that franchise be granted the company.

From Chief Engineer Deasy, stating that the new Merryweather engine had been shipped; that the alarm boxes were on the way, and asking for certain repairs to the fire engines now in use. Referred to fire wardens.

On motion the city surveyor was instructed to survey the new street through the school grounds and open it up, erect gates and fences, under the direction of the government agent.

EXTENSION OF CITY LIMITS.

Ald. Vigelius asked what had been done towards the extension of the city limits.

Mayor Grant replied that he had heard nothing new in the matter.

Ald. Harrison said he had moved the extension of the city limits, but since he had grown lukewarm in the matter. If the limits were extended streets and bridges would have to be widened and it would entail great expense.

The city clerk was instructed to write the government re the extension of the city limits and request an answer.

REVENUE BY-LAW.

Ald. Vigelius gave notice of his intention to move an amendment to the revenue by-law, dealing with the question of restaurant licenses.

Council adjourned at 9.45.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

—A new substance called kolgum has been invented as a substitute for rubber.

—Alfonse—"Your cheek, Miss Daisy, reminds me of the rose—it is so red." Miss Daisy—"And yours reminds me of the candlestick—it is so brazen. Good evening."

—Man about town—"That Miss Eger seems to be stuck on young Jones." Miss Eger's rival—"How can she help it when she is covered with paste diamonds?"—Jeweler's Weekly.

—"Why don't you listen to reason?" growled out old Brown, in a perfect rage. "How do you expect me to do that when you are speaking?" returned his better half.—N. Y. Sun.

—A domineering man said to his wife: "Remember, my dear, that you are the weaker vessel." "That may be so," she retorted: "but I'll take good care that you shan't forget that the weaker vessel may have the stronger spirit in it."

—Snaggs—"I see an English physician has a new cure which consists in covering the patient with warm, fresh soil." Jaggs—"I s'pose the beauty of the treatment is that he never has to disinter a subject."—Drake's Magazine.

—It is a fact worthy of note that all the women elected to municipal offices in Kansas this spring wear "Mrs." in front of their names. It seems to require a matrimonial experience to develop the governing instinct in women.—Kansas City Star.

—In the parlor at 12:30 a. m.—"Excuse me, Harry, papa is calling." "Certainly, Eveline." Eveline (on returning to the parlor)—"I'm sorry, Harry, but you'd better go. Papa says he hasn't got a license for running an all-night place."—Chicago Herald.

—Mrs. Grumpy—"I don't see why you advertised for 'a plain cook;' you know I like little fancy dishes and entrees." Mrs. Grumpy (meaningly) "Because I'll never have another good-looking cook in this house, my dear. I'll attend to your fancy dishes and entrees myself."—Epoch.

—At the Mansion House ball.—Mr. Griggs (who has retired from the provision trade, and is ever so exclusive) —"A very fine swarry, General, but a little mixed, don't you think?" General Tufts (who is also exclusive)—"Hang it all, sir, you can't expect them all to be cheese mongers."—Pick Me Up.

—"Say, policeman," he said, excitedly, "why don't you arrest those two men They have been talking loudly and threaten to hammer each other into a jelly for the last half hour." "O, don't you worry about them," said the officer, "they won't do any thing but talk. They are professional prize fighters."

—"I never play at another man's game," said the president of a financially uncertain insurance company to a traveling man on the train. "That is natural." "What makes you think so?" Because it would take time from your business of inducing other men to play at your game."—Merchant Traveler.

—On a street car the other day the passengers included two young ladies, one of whom had returned within a few days from a trip abroad, and did not propose to have the fact unknown. Proud of the distinction of having visited foreign scenes, she regaled her companion with her experiences. The friend remarking the returned traveler's hoarseness, said: "You have a severe cold, haven't you?" "O, yes," responded the other, with the consciousness of enjoying a superior distinction, unlike the plebeian New England affliction, "I imported that from Germany."—Boston Budget.

NOVELTIES IN JEWELRY.

Handsomer Trifles for Personal Adornment and Art Decoration.

A bunch of violets sprinkled with diamond dew-drops makes a lace pin that is very much worn and admired.

Two diamonds, one canary and the other white, mounted on a tapering shank ring, produce an artistic effect.

A simple and pretty lace pin is a daisy of enamel with a small diamond representing a dew drop in the center.

A silver hand mirror has a Russian Eastertide festival scene engraved on the back with commendable distinctness.

A prayer book with silver covers, on which are etched scenes of the Resurrection, is a fine piece of workmanship.

An enameled white mouse with ruby eyes, climbing up a gold scarf pin after a pearl, is one of the latest novelties.

An Easter egg of richly painted porcelain, with a satin finished silver cover, is a bonbonniere that is finding much favor.

A ribbon of white satin, with a beautiful silver crown attached, deserves mention for its attractive simplicity as a book mark.

An exquisite lace pin represents a spray of maiden-hair fern. The leaves are of enamel and have a decidedly natural appearance.

A miniature plaque, painted with the portrait of Christ and surrounded by fancy pearls, is a brooch that elicits much commendation.

A representation in silver or crystal of a hen with a brood of chickens, resting on a base of the same material, is an elaborate but handsome paper weight.—Jewelers' Weekly.

Advertising Enterprise.

"You seem to be very much interested in art, sir," said a young painter to a portly gentleman who had spent some time at an art exhibition.

"Yes sir, I am. I take a lively interest in pictures, a lively interest."

"You are perhaps a painter yourself?"

"No, I am a patent medicine manufacturer."—Merchant Traveler.

One Way to Clear the Store.

Two gentlemen were walking on F street recently when one said:

"Let's cross the street. There comes a man to whom I owe some money, and I don't want to meet him."

"Does he dun you?"

"No; that's the worst of it. He never speaks of it."

After they had crossed over, the debtor walked some distance in thoughtful silence. Then he said, seriously:

"I wish that man would get mad about it and go at me with a club. I can't pay him the money, and I wish he would thrash me like fury and settle the matter so that I wouldn't ever be afraid again to meet him."—Washington Post.

AN ENJOYABLE CONCERT.

Prof. Loseby's First Evening Concert a Success

It was a large and fashionable audience that gave a friendly greeting to Prof. Loseby as he stepped on the stage last evening, to open his first evening concert with an overture from the tuneful opera of "Il Trovatore." The band of H. M. S. Swiftsure, composed of seventeen pieces, performed the selection as was probably never performed here before; and in the descriptive nautical fantasia, "A Voyage on a Troopship," the novelties in the way of a sailors' chorus heightened the interest in the selection. The band shows conscientious training at the hands of its leader, and the fact was recognized by careful attention and liberal applause.

Mr. W. R. Higgins faithfully interpreted the song, "The Raft," exquisitely accompanied by Mrs. Higgins, and a generous reception was accorded its rendition.

A gem of the evening followed in a "Serenade des Mandolines" for strings, nine performers; the execution of the catchy air was perfect, and an encore was given.

In Miss Annie Shaw's vocal efforts, "In Old Madrid," the audience recognized the young lady's talent and accorded an encore for the excellent manner in which it was portrayed. The encore, a serenade, was given in a most feeling manner, and stamps the young lady as a vocalist of more than ordinary merit.

Prof. Loseby's composition, dedicated to Capt. Lacon Hammet, entitled "Love's Longing," would, we think, have produced a better effect by a female voice. In Mr. Chas. Rhodes' hands it was only mediocrely rendered.

Miss O'Neil, always a charm in her vocal efforts, did admirably in the song, "To Seville," for which she was rapturously applauded.

The pop'ar J. G. Brown was warmly received in Prof. Loseby's work, "Golden Hours," but declined the call for an encore.

Two difficult violin solos were contributed by Prof. Loseby in a masterly manner; and a cornet solo polka entitled "Victoria," another of the professor's compositions, a few bars of which might have been taken from the "Princess Clavotte," contributed to the evening's success. A piccolo solo and a concert waltz brought a pleasant concert to a close.

The accompaniments by Mr. Sharpe were in his usual good style.

Another Church Enlarging.

Workmen have commenced preparing the foundation for an extension of the Calvary Baptist church, Burdett street. The addition will be built between the present structure and the street, and it will about double the seating capacity of the church.

Building Notes.

The north wing of the Royal Naval hospital, Esquimalt, is rapidly approaching completion, as is also the administrative block. The buildings are of brick and stone and being built in a thorough manner, regardless of expense. In the naval yard a new engine and boiler house is being erected.

Social Meeting.

A very pleasant social meeting was held last evening in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. W. S. Hampson presided. Reports were heard from the delegates to the convention. During the evening several musical selections were rendered by Mr. T. Desbrisay, Miss Cusack, Mr. W. J. Twiss, Miss Robertson and Miss Swan.

Life Saving Net.

A canvas appliance has been added to the fire department, which will be utilized for saving life from top storeys of buildings by jumping into it. The first trial will be by the maker, engineer Chas. Bush, who will jump into it, when completed, from the top of Deluge engine house, a la Steve Brodie. It is a splendid thing, but it is to be hoped it never will be needed.

All Solid.

The scaffolding inside of St. Andrew's church is down and the beautiful wood work of the ceiling can now be seen and admired. The local Jeremiahs declared the foundation of the church had given way and the front wall was cracked. The foundation is on solid clay, competent men say, the best that can be found, and there is not the hundreth part of an inch subsidence in it.

For the South.

The City of Puebla left sharp at one o'clock this afternoon for San Francisco, with the following passengers from this port: S Anderson and wife, W. Booth, Chas. Parr, Mrs. J. Dorman, E. B. Van Aired and wife, Jno. H. Symons, W. E. Fales, J. R. Fraser, W. H. Morris, Mrs. Bertenus, Mrs. Humphreys, Mrs. Pierre, J. McElroy, R. J. McMillan, Sir Henry Edwards, Miss Eberts.

The Hogg-Langis Case.

In connection with the recent Hogg versus Langis-Sullivan abortion case, which caused so much excitement some little time back, it is now learned that Dr. Langis has sued W. Hogg, the husband of the plaintiff, for $25, the fees incurred at the time of Mrs. Hogg's confinement. This sum has been paid in to the Small Debts Court. It is understood that the further prosecution of the case will not be taken up.

Christ Church Cathedral.

The annual harvest festival will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock. The sermon will be preached by His Lordship Bishop Hills, and appropriate music will be rendered by the choir as follows: Processional hymn 381; special Psalms, 65, 145, 150, Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, Garrett; anthem, Thou visitest the Earth; anthem, The eyes of all wait upon Thee; retrocessional hymn, 223. The service will be full choral, ending with Stainer's Seven Fold Amen.

A Bark's Troubles.

The bark Tythonus was towed to this port on Monday from Astoria by the tug Sea Lion. The captain had hired eight longshoremen to help on the trip. The first order Pilot Dog gave the mate countermanded. He wouldn't allow the pilot to say anything. The men then quit. The captain offered to treble their wages and they refused. Then 15 men from the United States steamer Albatross went on board and helped to heave the anchor. The captain ordered the mate to his room. The vessel then went to sea in charge of the pilot, captain and four men and got here safely, and is now beached above the railway bridge having her bottom scraped.

The Colonist and the Park.

We don't like to kick a man when he is down, but in the matter of the park business the Colonist is so badly hoist of its own petard we cannot forbear alluding to it. It is now in the order for the Government street cassist to explain its change of base, to tell how and by what means the new light broke on him whereby the plans which the paper once so loudly praised, it now so unequivocally condemns. That "wretched reporter" probably, or through editorial indiscretion, things will slip into the paper once in a while in spite of managerial vigilance, will be the excuse. Perhaps the organ will take refuge in disgusted silence. On the whole that is just exactly what we would advise it to do.

The Cowichan Fair.

The twenty-second annual fair of the Cowichan Agricultural Society will be held on Saturday next at the society's grounds, Duncan's station. Return tickets will be issued by the E. & N. Ry. at single fare. Parties wishing to attend the fair can go up on the morning train leaving at 8:20 or on a special train leaving at noon for and returning from the grounds at 8 p. m. Many will doubtless avail themselves of the pleasant trip. Exhibits properly marked will be transferred free. The people in the above district are noted for their hospitality and a sense of kindly feeling to strangers. During the afternoon there will be dancing, music by the Queen City orchestra of twelve pieces under the able management of F. Campbell, Jr.

The Standard Life.

The directors of the Standard Life had a pleasing duty in submitting their report of the company's business in 1888. The new business was represented by 2972 policies, for $7,285,205, the premiums for same $283,955, claims paid including bonus additions amounted to $2,807,352. The amount of business in force at 15th November, was $101,358,149, the amount of income $4,525,703, and the accumulated funds $34,019,523. The rate of interest on investments is £4 : 2 : 0 per cent. The mortality was favorable and within tabular rates. Determined to be abreast of the movement in liberality, the Standard has modified the conditions of its policies. Policies, upon the age having been admitted, are now unchallengable after two years instead of five as formerly. This is a great concession to the insured. Endowment rates have been allowed, and new plans of insurance introduced. Mr. Kerr, the inspector, is in the city at present. Messrs Robt. Ward & Co. are the agents for British Columbia.

SWORN IN TO-DAY.

Judge Drake Takes the Oath and Dons the Judicial Ermine.

In the Supreme Court at 2 o'clock this afternoon, M. W. T. Drake, Esq., Q. C., was sworn in as a judge of the Supreme Court of British Columbia. Chief Justice Begbie and the Hon. Mr. Justice Crease were upon the bench, the spectators numbering but two or three. The ceremony was short and simple in character. Mr. Harvey Combe, Deputy Registrar of the Supreme Court, read the commission of the Governor-General-in-Council authorizing their Lordships to administer oaths to persons appointed by the government. He then read Mr. Drake's commission, after which the judges administered the oath of office. The Chief Justice addressed a few words of congratulation to the new incumbent and the ceremony was completed. The affair was done very quietly, the members of the legal profession, who would have liked to have been present, not being aware of it.

RASH-HA-SHO-NOO.

Celebration of the Jewish New Year by the Israelites of Victoria.

Rash-ha-sho-noo, or the Jewish New Year, was observed to-day by the Israelites of this city. The services in connection with the festival were begun last evening in the synagogue, corner of Pandora and Blanchard streets, and they will be continued this evening at 6:30. The services to-morrow morning will continue from 7:30 till 12 o'clock, and the closing service will be held in the evening at 6:30. All the services are being conducted by Rabbi Borenstein, assisted by Rabbi Ixbert, of Seattle.

Rash ha-sho-noo is one of the principal holidays of that ancient people and is strictly observed all over the world wherever there are Jews. In the olden time the holiday usually fell on a day soon after harvest time, and the services then, as now, consisted of prayer and praise to God for His goodness and munificence in providing for his people. The holiday is observed from sundown of the preceding day to sundown of the festival day. The old orthodox Jews observed two days, but in America the first day only is generally observed.

Next Saturday, which is the Jewish Sabbath, is called the Shabut Chuvs, or the Sabbath of Repentance, and is connected with the Rash-ha-sho-noo. On that day all Israelites commune with themselves and prepare for the solemn services to follow a few days later.

Ten days after the Jewish New Year, or beginning with the evening of Friday, October 4th, is Yom-Kippoor, or Day of Atonement, which is the most religiously observed of all the Jewish holidays. All food is strictly abstained from during Sabbath by all Israelites over 13 years of age. The entire day is spent in fasting and prayer, in atonement for sins committed and in resolutions to lead a better life.

MOULDERS ON A STRIKE.

Twenty-Five Men in the Albion Iron Works Walk Out.

This morning twenty-five moulders employed in the Albion Iron Works went out on a strike. A demand for the discharge of a non-union man was made upon the manager yesterday and this morning when the men went down to work he gave them his answer. It was to the effect that the non-union man would not be discharged and they could go if they wanted to. They therefore went. The striking moulders state that their action was precipitated by a report that the present boss of the moulding shop was about to leave and that his place would be filled by a non-union man. That would be the edge of the wedge. The new man would gradually "let out" the union workers as opportunity offered, and finally do without them altogether. One of the foremen who was sent out this morning by the managers to interview the striking moulders said he was instructed to ask what the men meant. He had spoken to a few of them, and as he expected, the trouble was over the employment of a non-union man at the works. The party in question was an old man, who had been employed a long time in the foundry; had been crippled while in the employ of the company and they naturally did not wish to discharge him. He refuses, however, to join the union on principle. He says he belonged to a union before and he saw things in it then which he was utterly opposed to, and rather than join the union again for the sake of a job he would beg. The foremen did not think the men were acting reasonably in this case under the circumstances. As the non-union man had been crippled in the employ of the company they were going to give him work if they could.

Being asked as to the possibility of securing men to take the place of the strikers, the foreman said that union men of course could not be secured. He supposed the only thing that could be done was to shut down till non-union men, or "scabs," could be had.

THIS AFTERNOON the men held a meeting in the Victoria Athletic club rooms at which the situation was discussed. It was decided to meet Mr. Bullen, manager of the works, and talk the matter over with him. Meantime the brotherhood in all the cities of the coast. Toronto and other Canadian and American cities have been notified of the strike. The Albion Iron Works has for a long time been the only shop on the coast. The men are very indignant at the party who has caused the strike and state that he will not join the union because of pure unadulterated meanness.

CAPT. TROUPE

Dilates on Steamboats—Seeing about a New O. R & N. Steamer.

Capt. J. W. Troupe, well known in Victoria, who has just returned from a trip to the Atlantic coast, was interviewed the other day by a reporter in Astoria on the subject of steamboats. The captain says the boats of the Columbia river and Pacific coast generally do not lose anything by comparison with crafts in the east. For their size he saw none in the east that could beat them. Of course, nothing could equal the New York. She is the fastest boat that runs, her parlors are grand and she cost a mint of money. Speaking of the Olympian the captain said:

"While in New York I visited the office of the Harlan & Hollingsworth company, builders of the Olympian. They showed me her model. I asked them several questions about boat building, and was amused at the replies. Just for fun I described the dimensions of a Portland steamer that makes nineteen miles an hour, and asked if they could build one for such a rate of speed. 'Not on those dimensions,' they answered. 'Because it can't be done.'

"'But,' I returned, 'we do it every day out in our country.'

"Still they doubted me.

"The model of the Olympian," said the chief engineer, "is the result of fifty years' experience."

"And," returned I, "we can beat her with less than twenty years' experience."

"It opened their eyes when I told them that there was a boat out in our district but little over 150 feet long that could beat the Olympian."

"The great achievement of late in steamboating is the feathering wheel. It is an English invention, and its buckets, or paddles, are kept constantly perpendicular. It is a great invention, and will, I believe, be universally adopted."

"Will you put it in use here?" I was asked. "I can't say as to that, but I would like very much to try the invention. It saves power, as no water is lifted up by the wheel."

"It is understood that you went east for the purpose of perfecting plans for building a fine new steamer for the O. R. & N. Co. Is it true?"

"It is true that I made a study of steamboats while there, and learned many valuable things, but regarding the future movements of the company I do not care to talk."
